HVAC dealer may offer to retrofit your current R22 refrigerant system to work with another refrigerant. This is commonly referred to as a “drop-in” replacement. But keep in mind that your licensed professional AC or heat pump dealer can't simply replace R22 with any other refrigerant without additional modifications.

Owners Support

Homeowners that have R22 air conditioning systems can still use their units. However, recharging the unit if it has a coolant leak will come at a high price tag. For those who already are having trouble with their HVAC unit, then it makes sense to use that as an opportunity to address the R-22 problem at the same time.
